

Milwaukee Girl

Digital Collage

24 x 34 cm

Exhibition Text

This piece represents the life of a girl who lives in Milwaukee, WI. Milwaukee is known for its breweries, segregation and the danger it has. This piece makes it appear as if the young girl is carrying the city on her back. In addition, there are roots on her body that symbolize strain and suffocation from a culture and from another. The girl tries to fit in but realizes it is okay because America is a melting pot that has many cultures, and not a salad bowl, that has only one culture.
